DEDICATION: TO BONNIE DOON'S BEST

The halls are empty, yet I can see all the students Bonnie Doon ever had walking through like shadows.
The halls are ringing with the echoes of a familiar clamor.

It is 1958

"Brand new school! Brand new teachers! Brand new principal...Guy named H.G. Ward. Know anything about him?"

"Used to work at Vic Comp., didn't he?"

"Wonder what he'll be like..."

1960

Styles have changed but the rustling of pages in classrooms and the squeak of chalk on blackboards--these are the same.

"It's been a long time since we came here as scared little frosh."

"That new wing's pretty neat, eh?"

"Yeah, so's Mr. Ward. We were so scared he'd turn out to be a terribly strict guy, but he isn't really."

1965

Bonnie Doon students are ringing doorbells all over the area and presenting a petition which 22,238 people will sign:

"We're calling it 'Operation Aquatic', ma'am. We want a swimming pool to be built at Bonnie Doon School."

"You students must have a great deal of efficiency to organize this so well."

"I dunno, I guess so. But really, it's Mr. Ward-our principal-who's encouraged us so much. I mean, I don't think we could have done it without him. He's done so much..."

December 1969

A rumor is going around the classes:

"Mr. Ward's leaving."

"Is he? When?"

"Yeah, he's going January 3 to Central Office to be director of Staff Improvement."

"That's terrible! What are we going to do without him?"

"Who's going to be the new principal?"

"I don't know."

"He'll have to have pretty big feet to step into those shoes."

"Right."

"It's not fair. All the work he's done on the new wing that's going to be built and he won't even be here."

"I don't think we have anything to worry about."

Mr. Ward has left his mark on every student and teacher who's ever been here. Just because he leaves, that effect won't stop. As long as there's a teacher or a student who has ever known him, he'll still be around. Mr. Ward will be a legend at B.D. for a long, long time.

Mr. Ward's influence has not only spurred students on to higher education and successful lives after school, but has affected teachers as well. Many of those who worked with him are now spread over the world. On all of them he left his mark of integrity, dignity, and humanity.

So how do you end an era? And, how do you pay tribute to a great man who has spent 12 years of his life helping you, and has been heard to say:

"If we're going to make a mistake let it be in the kids' favor."

I think one would end by saying:

THANK YOU MR. WARD

DOON

R. R. R. RIP...!

Where'd the other one go?

Good boys always do their homework.

Y'see, this is how it's done,
Mr. McFall....

AS WE SEE 'EM

Gee, can I have your autograph, Mr. alKarmy?

STUDENTS'

UNION

Well, that's another year. For some of us, it was our last year in high school, for others, our first. For some of us it was a great year with great everything, for others just another wasted period of time. In fact, for everyone, this year now gone has probably meant something different.

For me of course, this year was very special. After all, it was the first year I've ever spent as president of Bonnie Doon. I like to think I've learned a lot, but I've probably forgotten more. There were good times, and bad times too, but I like to think the good outweighed the bad. I hope the same was and will be true for all of you. Anyway, thank you very much for the most fantastic time of my life.

Mark Johnson

OUR

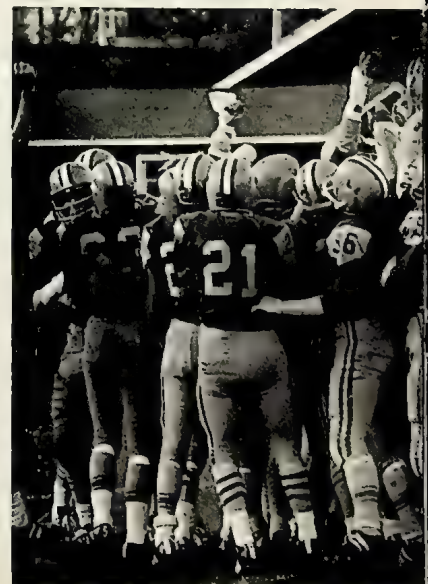

I've had it with kids!

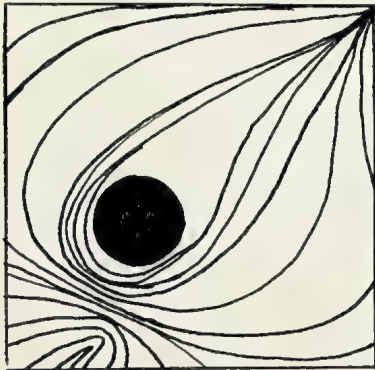

We express ourselves in many ways.
Our music.
Our conversation.
Our idols.
Our ideals.
The way we spend our time in school.
The way we spend our time out of school.

Some of us never grow old.

GENERATION

We express our hopes for our tomorrow in many ways. For some reason we feel our world may be a better place when we leave it than it was when we entered it. Who knows for sure? We've reached the moon; the stars are next.

Thank Goodness It's Friday!

Food for Thought.

And I thought the girls' locker room was full of lockers!

Peace, brothers.

One, two, three...uh...seven, five...

JUST FOR FUN

Common pastime at Doon.

X-Section

And just wait until the bathing suit season!

An abstract line drawing of a stylized figure, possibly a person or a creature, rendered in black outlines. The figure is positioned on the left side of the page, with its head and upper body visible. A large, solid black heart-shaped void is located on the left side of the figure's torso. The figure's arms and legs are long and flowing, with multiple parallel lines suggesting movement or a sense of depth. The overall style is minimalist and graphic.

ALWAYS CARRY A LIGHTBULB

DECEMBER

"Haggis"

The Booster Club sponsored another successful Christmas Boutique. Assorted paraphernalia was passed on to eager Doonites.

Santa, followed by a mistletoe-bearing snowman spread merriment at the Christmas dance.

FAREWELL TO A GREAT GUY

December witnessed the departure of Bonnie Doon's beloved principal, Mr. Ward. Minds converged and feelings ran high as the entire student population gathered to say "Good bye".

JANUARY

A familiar face in a new position.

We ate, slept, and dreamt mid-term exams for most of January.

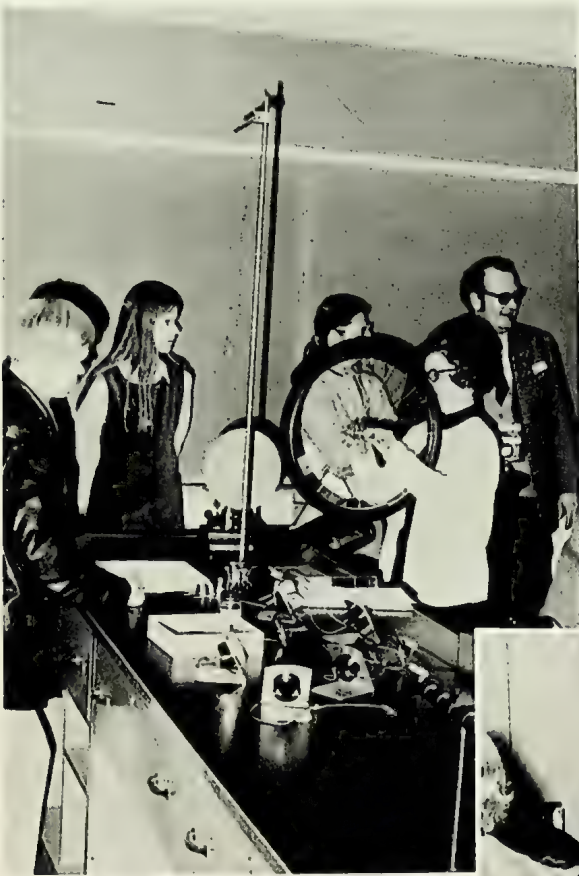

FEBRUARY

Window gazers had some new scenery to amuse them as work on our new Industrial Arts and Home Ec. wing began in February.

MARCH

PARENTS' NIGHT

Parents' Night was done a little differently this year, and met with great success. Student involvement in displays and demonstrations made the evening an interesting one for teachers, parents, and students. Highlights of the night included a gymnastics display, a model General Assembly, and La Terrasse de Café, to name a few.

"A Canticle

For Leibowitz"

This wasn't in the script!

1970's big drama production was "A Canticle for Leibowitz", or what happens after the A-bomb is dropped. The Canadian premiere of this difficult and controversial play was performed before sell-out audiences. The set was startling in its simplicity, the acting faultless, despite a threat of measles. Congratulations go out to Mr. Carson, cast, and crew for a great job.

APRIL

SPRING

DANCE!

The last dance of the year, and people, people everywhere! The gym bursting at the seams, saw Everyman's Tonto play, to everyone's enjoyment.

MAY

FESTIVAL

Thanks to the efforts of the Booster Club, we enjoyed three days of great entertainment, backstage, at the Bonnie Doon Folk Festival.

Featured performers were our own "Coming Generation", Mike Dorsey, and "Manna".

April held a surprise in the form of a visit from Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield. Students were able to ask him probing and difficult questions. This was also the first occasion we had to assemble together under our new principal, Mr. Craig.

An abstract line drawing of a flower, possibly a tulip, rendered in black ink on a light background. The drawing is composed of numerous overlapping, flowing lines that create a sense of movement and depth. The petals are large and rounded, with some showing internal line patterns. The stem and leaves are also depicted with similar flowing lines. The overall style is organic and expressive.

GRADUATION NIGHT...

FAIR VERONA

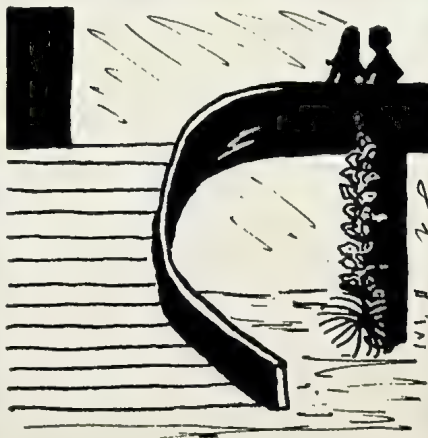

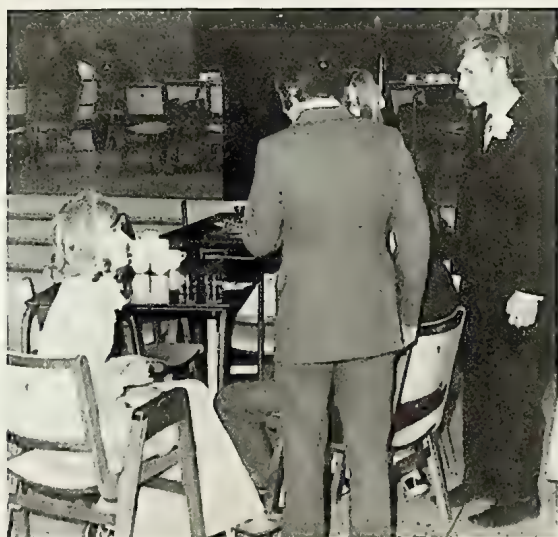

But, soft! What light through yonder window breaks? It is the east, and Juliet is the sun!

In fair Verona, where we lay our scene,
A pair of star-crossed lovers take their life;
And do, with their death bury their parents strife,
Which but their children's end, nothing could remove.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Just over twelve years ago, it was 1957. Most of us were six years old then--we were little children leaving our back yards to begin our life in school.

Today it is 1970, and our life at public school is nearing its end. And, we are no longer children.

Tonight we are graduands, and we have been anticipating this evening for a long time. To us, as young people, it represents something gained--and something lost. We have gained knowledge, experience, and independence; and we have lost a familiar way of life--our life as young people with our friends and books in a school, with parents and teachers constantly prodding us along to insure our success--the carefree life of youth.

Youth is an indefinite time, when we are neither children nor adults, and consequently are not sure of our role in the world. We contain a driving force within us which makes us impatient, impulsive, and sometimes impractical. We want action, yet often we fail to realize what it is we want to accomplish. We want to be heard, and we want to feel that we can contribute to improving our world. We want advice and rules, even though we do not always want to listen to them, because they awaken us to new viewpoints, and they are an authority for us to challenge.

The idea of challenge is important to both youth and society. It is beneficial when youth challenges outdated standards, for this prevents a society from becoming static. The youth can bring out flaws in their culture because, unlike their parents, they lack definite roles -- they can question norms without fearing loss of their social status or their pride. And if the young people make mistakes, their youth can be a valid excuse. But, challenge can be harmful when it leads to destruction of lives, property, and ideals. Fellow graduands, if we truly hold peace as an ideal, as we have thus far claimed, let us not forget this ideal in our future actions. For the energy of youth, can inspire progress, or it can promote destruction.

Therefore, to channel this potential energy, youth is educated by the society in which it lives. We have been sent to schools to learn. We gained knowledge of facts, formulas, and other concrete concepts. And equally as valuable, we gained abstract insights into life: we learned responsibility and diplomacy; we learned to think and how others thought; we learned the merits of co-operation and experienced the joy of accomplishment; we reconsidered our values and ideals as our knowledge grew.

Yes, we have learned a great deal. But, we still have a great deal more to learn, for now we must apply our knowledge to our goals, and hope that the results lead to progress and peace.

Our parents' generation has made tremendous advances in medicine and science. They have created a model of the D.N.A. molecule; they have transplanted kidneys and hearts; they have developed the computer; they have gone to the moon.

And yet, there still remain problems for our generation to solve--the age-old problems of poverty, prejudice, and war; and contemporary problems like pollution. These constitute our challenge. And when we become discouraged in our attempt to meet this challenge, let us be inspired by Alfred, Lord Tennyson's lines:

"For I dipped into the future, far as human eye could see, Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be."

To all those who have helped prepare us for this graduation, we say thank you; and to Bonnie Doon we say good-bye.

CLASS HISTORY

Mr. Craig, Honored Guests, Parents, Relatives, and Fellow Graduands:

After I was asked to be this year's class historian, I spent a great deal of time and effort thinking about and studying the introductions to previous class histories. Most of these seemed so eloquent, smooth, and well-rehearsed...frankly, Ladies and Gentlemen, I could not find a reason that mine should be any different. But after three or four thousand attempts, I decided my purpose here tonight is not really to give an eloquent introduction, but to retell once more the story of this, the graduating class 1970.

It is a tradition at Bonnie Doon to start the year off on the right foot by devoting a few days to the humiliation of Frosh. This year we accomplished more than that. We destroyed them! So, we started the year off on the left foot. Ah, but all was not lost!

With the coming of the football season, the left changed to the right, and things were looking up. Football fever hit everybody, and spirited pep rallies were held both day and night, to generate enough cheering power to help our mighty Lancers on to victory. Our Lancers were so intent on winning that, after every game, the whole team would go into seclusion at Emily Murphy Park, to hash over that game, and prepare themselves mentally for the next. They often found it difficult to concentrate however, because they were constantly being bothered by well-wishers and autograph-seekers, and even a few fans in blue uniforms. Unable to handle the situation, and obviously in dire straights, the football teams had to resort a secret hideaway, with the code name "Barnies".

I think at this time a compliment should go out to Bonnie Doon's new school paper, "The Thistle", for their complete coverage of these events and others during the school year. The Thistle had a very successful debut, in that it was voted, by acclamation, Bonnie Doon's most popular published work.

In November, we ended the world's search for a formula for happiness, in our student-written and produced variety show, "Always Carry a Lightbulb". Even the most critical of critics classified it as a hundred watt success.

Then came Christmas. Usually the spirit of happiness accompanies this season at any school, but at ours something was different. A man, whose name had become synonymous with that of Bonnie Doon, was leaving. Mr. Ward, our most admired and respected principal, was taking a new job. In an unforgettable farewell ceremony, we said goodbye, on that sad day in December. I'm sure we were all relieved to hear that Mr. Craig, who has also had a long association with Bonnie Doon, was to replace Mr. Ward as the head of the flock.

After the New Year, sports once more dominated school activities. Bonnie Doon gained recognition in almost every sport, including basketball, badminton, gymnastics, wrestling, swimming, and diving. Special mention should be made of the girls senior basketball team, who, in the course of their season, won the city title, and represented us honorably in the provincials in Calgary. Hat off to the Physical Education department also, for a job well done this year, and I even understand that the Senior Boy's Basketball team has one good player.

The month of March produced two fine accomplishments. The first was the outstanding year play done by the Drama Department entitled, "A Canticle For Leibowitz." And by the way, this was the Canadian Premiere of this production. The second was Parent's Night, which boasted a new theme of student involvement, and I'm sure all who attended, found it a worthwhile venture.

Again clubs flourished. Obviously their successes are too many and varied to mention but, well done anyway!

As usual, throughout the year we had an assortment of pep-rally days, color days and even a special day to honor Mr. Robert Stanfield who recently visited our school.

Along with these special days came special weeks including a drama week, a clubs week, a folk festival, a volleyball week in which everybody played basketball and an apathy week that appropriately, nobody knew anything about.

On the whole, a very good year indeed!

In conclusion, Ladies and Gentlemen, it's hard to tell what will happen to any given one of us in 5, 10, or even 20 years. In the course of our lives, events will likely scatter us to all corners of the globe. But, there is one thing which is indisputable; sometime, somewhere, somehow, we'll all be re-united at that great big football party in the sky. But for tonight, from those immortal words of one H.G. Ward, "Let's have a good one!"

Jeni Traff

Bonnie Doon is lucky to have one of the most capable teaching staffs in Edmonton. Two of our most-admired teachers are retiring this year; Mr. James Moseley of our Math Department, and Mrs. Catherine Moar of the English Department.

Both are first-rate teachers, who have taken genuine interest in the students they have taught. Now it is time for us to say "Thanks" and "Goodbye" to two of Bonnie Doon's best.

MRS. CATHERINE MOAR, B. A.

Mrs. Moar began teaching at Bonnie Doon when her daughter, a science teacher here, volunteered her services - and up to and including this year, she has been treating her students to her special style of teaching. Mrs. Moar really enjoys working with young people; one of her greatest joys is seeing them succeed.

The non-matric students are Mrs. Moar's favorites--to be able to get them to write for the love of it is rewarding--a "therapy against aging". Mrs. Moar knows what creative writing is about; she has been a free-lance writer for the past twenty years, and is a full member of the Canadian Authors Association. Perhaps her retirement will give her more time to devote to her writing talent!

MR. JAMES MOSELEY, B. Sc., B. Ed.

Mr. Moseley was born in Quebec, the day before Christmas, and came West at the age of four. He began teaching when he was eighteen, has worked at all kinds of partime jobs--including selling Fuller Brushes, and he taught Navigation in the R. C. A. F.

Mr. Moseley likes all kinds of sports, as witnessed by his interest in Doon's athletic activities. One of his greatest pleasures in teaching is seeing his former students succeed. He thinks that nothing is worthwhile labor, and if one can't win, one should make the other guy beat his record.

After his retirement, Mr. Moseley tells us that he would like to travel throughout Canada, and perhaps to Europe. Whatever you do, Mr. Moseley, we wish you happiness!

Time,
Time,
Time -- see what's become of me
While I look around for my possibilities --

I was so hard to please.

Hang on to your hopes my friend,
That's an easy thing to say
But if your hopes should pass away
SIMPLY PRETEND -- that you can build them again.

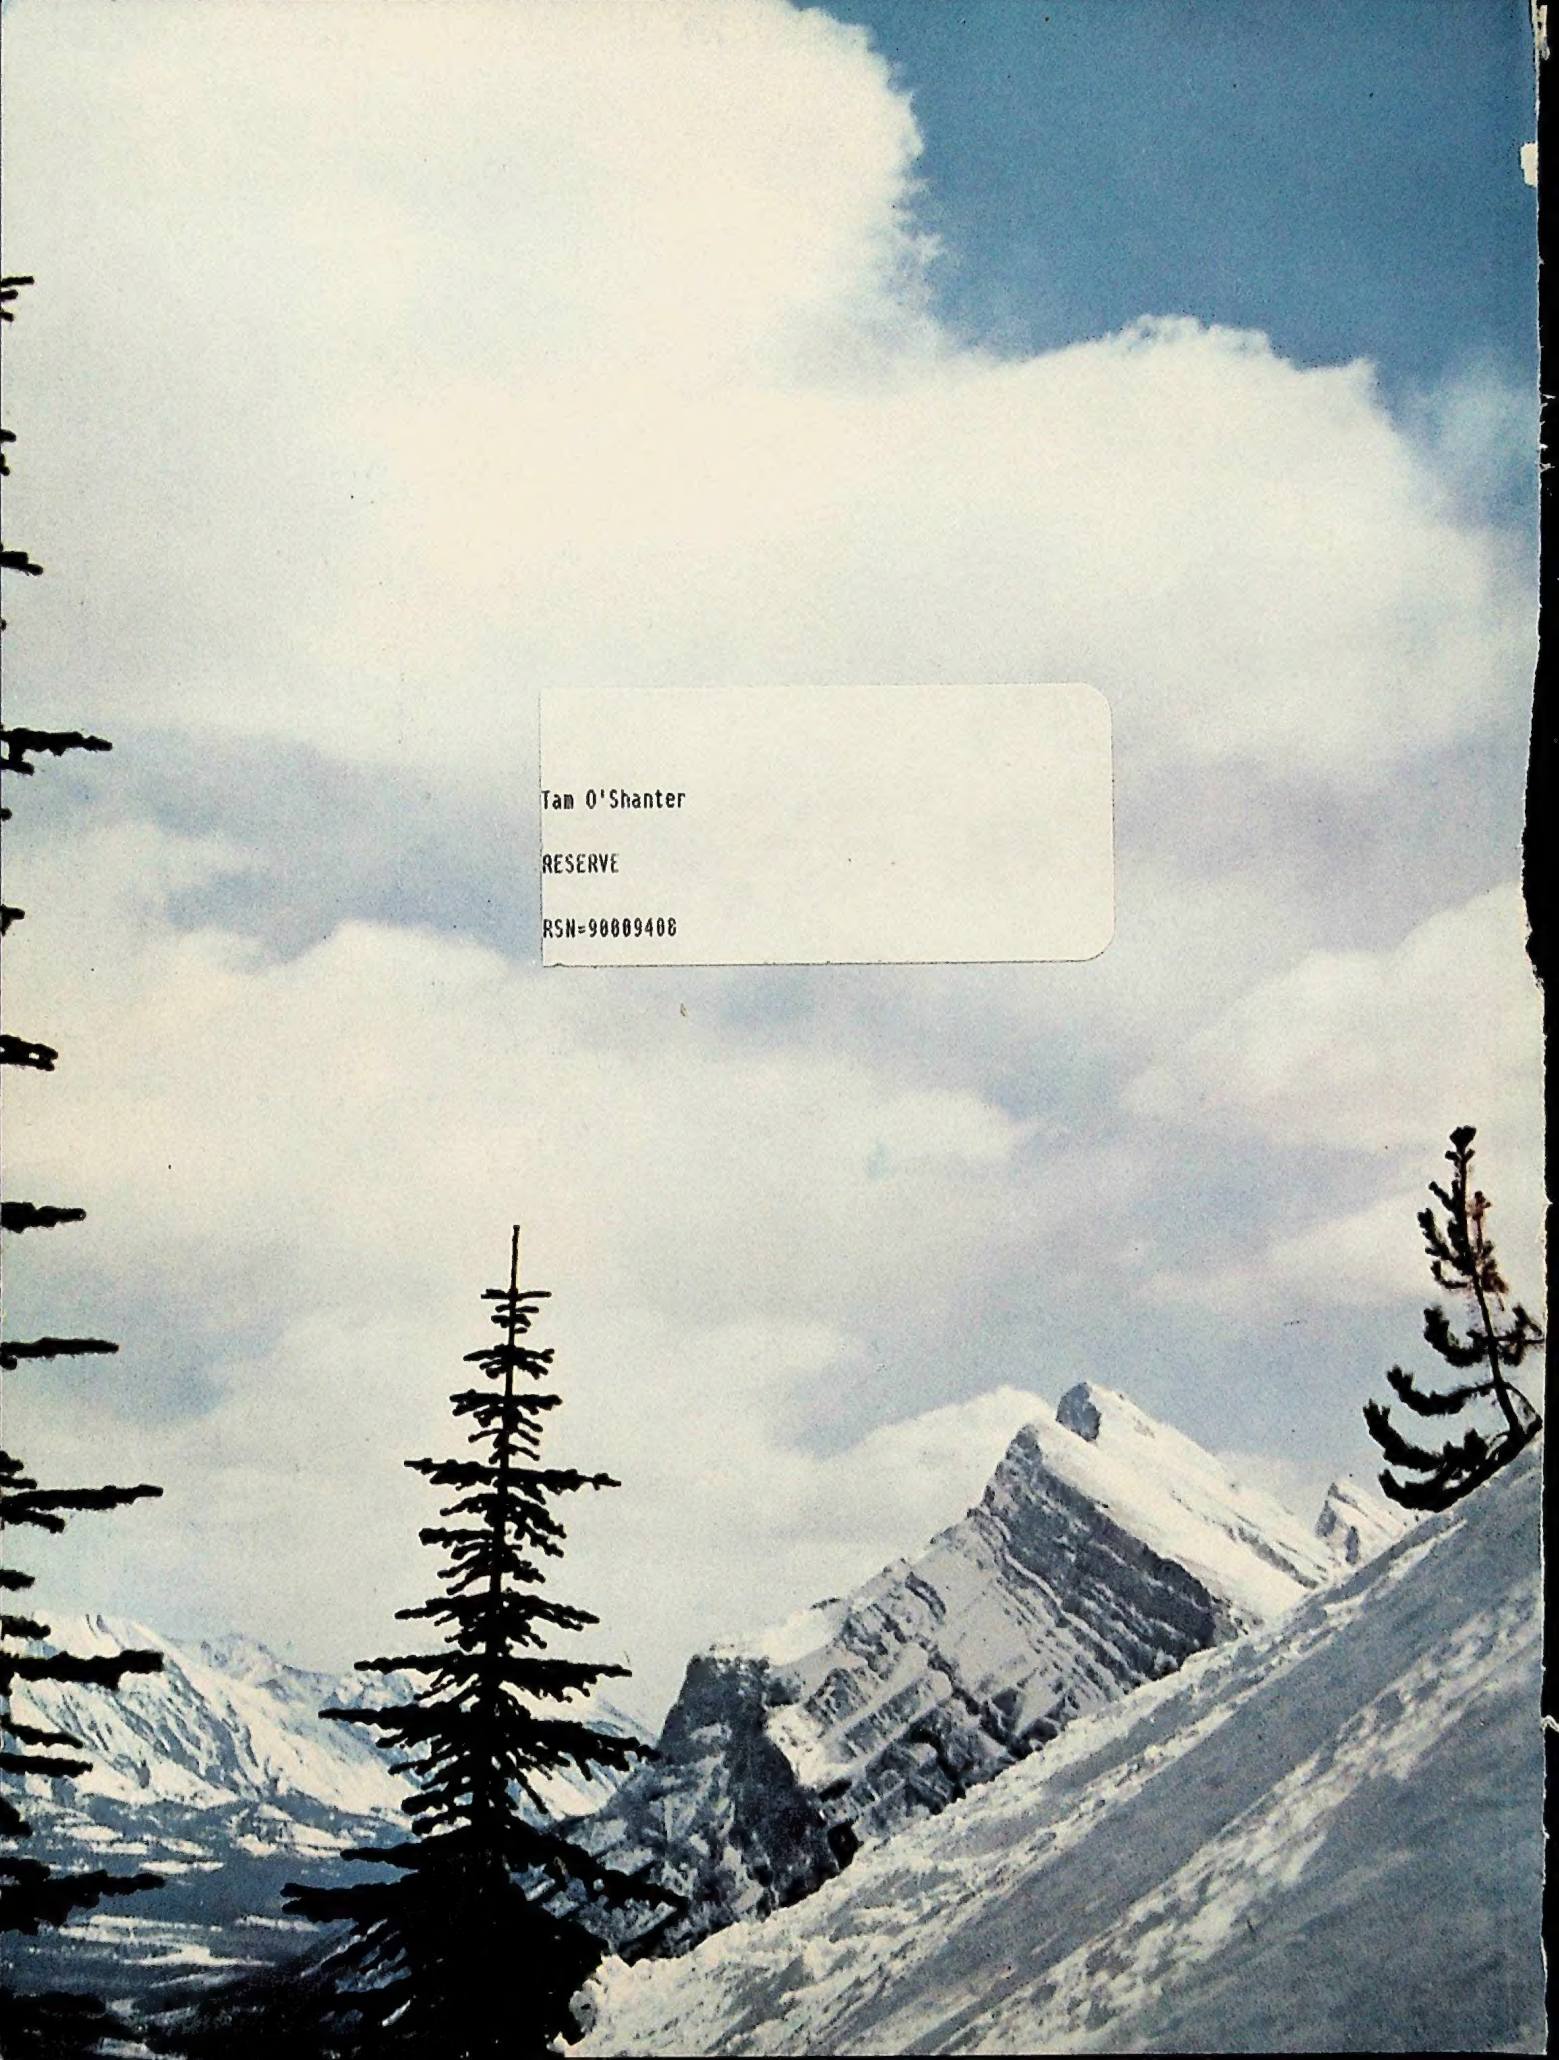

Time it was...
And what a time it was,
It was...
A time of innocence.
A time of confidences.
Long ago... it must be...
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories --
YOU!

A photograph of a snowy mountain landscape. In the foreground, there are dark evergreen trees. The middle ground shows a steep, snow-covered mountain slope with rocky outcrops. The background features more snow-capped mountain peaks under a blue sky with large, white, fluffy clouds. A large, white, rectangular label with rounded corners is positioned in the center of the image, containing text.
